<td>Betit</td>
<td>Kyle</td>
<td>Using Canadian Records for Your Irish Research</td>
<td>Learn sources and strategies for tracing Irish immigrants who settled in Canada back to a specific place of origin in Ireland; determine when to look at records from Ireland and when your research needs to stay in Canada. Sources will include immigration records, border crossing records, civil registration, church records, land records, newspapers, cemeteries, and military records. Strategies include research of collateral relatives and types of migration.</td>
<td>S12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Betit</td>
<td>Kyle</td>
<td>Irish and Irish Immigrant Societies and Their Records</td>
<td>Identify societies in Ireland and abroad; how to use their records to trace immigrant origins; document ancestors in Ireland; and fill in the stories of an Irish family history. Society memberships and records may be key to important genealogical information about members.</td>
<td>F42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Betit</td>
<td>Kyle</td>
<td>Using Ancestry DNA</td>
<td>An overview of the powerful features of the AncestryDNA test; the meaning of ethnicity results and genetic communities as well as how to most effectively use the DNA cousin results and related tools.</td>
<td>S43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chadbourne</td>
<td>Kate</td>
<td>Fairy Paths and Ancient Ways: Songs and Stories of Roads and Remembering</td>
<td>Kate Chadbourne is a singer, storyteller, and scholar. Join her on a journey down Irish by-ways in this program of traditional songs and stories that touch on the lore and significance of paths and roads. Meet na daoine maithe, “the good folk,” and learn of the peril and promise connected with their ancient ways – literally and metaphorically. Come sing, laugh, and enjoy the sounds of harp, flute, and whistle, and walk down your family’s pathway to the past.</td>

<td>Collins</td>
<td>Audrey</td>
<td>Tracing Irish Ancestors in The National Archives – in England</td>
<td>Less than a century ago all of Ireland was part of the United Kingdom; six of its northern counties, making up Northern Ireland, still are. Many records relating to our ancestors are to be found in the UK and not in Ireland. There are some records in The National Archives that have obvious Irish descriptions, but there are many more hidden treasures in UK-wide collections, such as the armed forces, the merchant navy and much more. Better still, increasing numbers of them are now online.</td>
<td>F31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Collins</td>
<td>Audrey</td>
<td>Births, Marriages and Death Records in The National Archives – in England</td>
<td>Birth, marriage and death records are not held at The National Archives – apart from the thousands of files that we DO hold! Civil registers are in the appropriate General Register Office, and parish records are in county archives, or in national repositories outside England. But that leaves registers from nonconformist congregations, the armed forces, consulates and churches abroad, and British-registered ships. There is even more information recorded in other records.</td>
<td>F52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Collins</td>
<td>Audrey</td>
<td>There and Back Again (Going Away Doesn't Mean Staying Away)</td>
<td>It is easy to think of emigration as a one-way process, but not everyone who went to live in another country stayed there permanently. As more and more records are indexed online, you may find family members in unexpected places, and as a result discover that your ‘stay at home’ ancestors were more well-travelled than you thought. There are lots or reasons for leaving your country of birth, but all kinds of factors might propel you back there, too.</td>
<td>S23</td>

<tr>
<td>Daly</td>

<td>Transatlantic Genealogy: Linking American Ancestors to Ireland</td>

<td>Durie</td>
<td>Bruce</td>
<td>Welsh Genealogy – Finding People and Places</td>
<td>In one sense, researching Welsh genealogy is the same as English. However, there are differences in Church records, dedicated local and national archives, etc. And is it the case that everyone is called Jones, Evans or Williams? Also, when the Welsh migrated to America, where did they end up? Dr. Bruce Durie will explain all . . .</td>
<td>F13</td>

<tr>
<td>Durie</td>
<td>Bruce</td>
<td>Scottish records you cannot get on Ancestry.com 2 HRS</td>
<td>Scotland has the longest-reaching, best-preserved and most accessible records on the planet, including a great deal online. This talk – of special interest to those trying to connect Ulster Scots to earlier records in Scotland – will deal mainly with the sources in Scotland's People, Scotland's Places, and the National Library of Scotland, and more.</td>
<td>F34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Durie</td>
<td>Bruce</td>
<td>Scots Migrations to Colonial America</td>
<td>The Scots got to early America by a variety of routes and for various reasons. Lowland Scots (both those who came directly, and those who had lived in Ulster) greatly outnumbered Highlanders. This talk will consider their original destinations in America, and the migration routes by which they afterwards travelled. It will also deal with the misleading terms “Scots-Irish” and “Celtic”, and why both should be avoided.</td>
<td>S14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Durie</td>
<td>Bruce</td>
<td>Why the Scots &amp; Irish (Welsh, Britons, Picts, etc.) are NOT Celtic!</td>
<td>The Celts were a culture &amp; language group that occupied central Europe about the same time as the Romans held sway. The designation “Celt” for these people is a 300 year old mistake, perpetrated by a Welsh scholar. And “Pict” does not mean painted. Come &amp; discover more.</td>
<td>S32</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fitzsimons</td>
<td>Fiona</td>
<td>Irish Church Records 2 HRS</td>
<td>Researchers often find the earliest evidence for Irish ancestors in the surviving church records. This lecture explores the many faith communities that coexisted in Ireland from the 1600s to the 20th Century (Roman Catholic, Episcopalian, Reformed Protestant, and Jewish), learn what records they made and where you can find them.</td>
<td>F11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fitzsimons</td>
<td>Fiona</td>
<td>Tracing Ancestors from Wales, Using Records on Findmypast</td>
<td>The National Library of Wales and the Welsh County Archivists Group have provided Findmypast with the Welsh baptism, banns, marriage and burial records which make up the Wales Collection. Find out what’s online, and how to navigate it.</td>
<td>S13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fitzsimons</td>
<td>Fiona</td>
<td>Educational and Occupational Records</td>
<td>Ireland has never had a strong industrial base, but enterprise flourished! The greater part of the Irish population were employed in small to medium enterprises, and on the land. Although literacy was low, the Irish seized on education as the way forward. In this talk, we cover how to find your ancestors school and career records.</td>
<td>S31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Galvin</td>
<td>Nora</td>
<td>Mapping Your Ancestral Home In Ireland Using Google Earth</td>
<td>Discover how mapping with Google Earth can identify Irish jurisdictions in relation to each other and to today’s locales in Ireland. Compare old maps to new and learn whether the old cottage is still standing. Case studies as illustration.</td>
<td>F51</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gleeson</td>
<td>Maurice</td>
<td>Adding DNA to Your Genealogical Toolkit</td>
<td>DNA has become an indispensable tool for a genealogical toolkit. This introductory explains the basics of DNA testing, the three main types of test, how each one can be applied in practice (with examples), and which one is best to address the genealogical dead ends specific to your family tree.</td>
<td>F22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gleeson</td>
<td>Maurice</td>
<td>Using autosomal DNA to find cousins and Break Through Brick Walls</td>
<td>The most popular of the DNA tests is the autosomal test because it helps in researching all of your ancestral lines (as opposed to Y-DNA and mitochondrial DNA). This talk explores the basic science behind autosomal DNA testing, the secrets to successfully applying it, and how to combine it with other tests and genealogy to help answer specific genealogical questions.</td>

<td>Using Y-DNA to research your surname</td>
<td>Since the Y chromosome is passed from father to son, just like the surname (i.e., family name), it is an excellent tool for surname research. This talk explores how to use Y-DNA in surname research, what it can tell you, and how joining a surname DNA project can further advance your own research.</td>

<tr>
<td>Grenham John</td>
<td></td>
<td>Things you didn't know you didn't know about Irish genealogy</td>
<td>Most researchers using Irish records make assumptions about the ways the records came into existence, how they're searchable and how they relate to each other. This talk aims to shake up those assumptions by teasing out little-known aspects of familiar institutions and websites, and in the process shedding fresh light on them.</td>

<td>Valuation Office (Ordnance Survey, pre-publication records, Griffth's and Revisions) 2 HRS</td>
<td>The most useful Irish nineteenth-century census substitutes are usually approached as if they were separate. These records are best understood when seen as part of an inter-connected process. The talk will trace the evolution of the measuring of Ireland and the records it produced between 1820s and the 1970s, with emphasis on the practical usefulness of each record class.</td>

<tr>
<td>Guye Holland Pamela</td>
<td></td>
<td>Mapping Celtic Locations – Tools and Research Aids</td>
<td>Discover mapping tools for Ireland, Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales. Learn about records in different jurisdictions and how to access them. Research aids, historic maps and surname maps will also be covered.</td>

<td>Katie &amp; Friends</td>
<td></td>
<td>Songs from Both Sides of the Atlantic</td>
<td>Katie &amp; Friends consists of Katie O’Neill, Kate Chadbourne, Mike Kerr, &amp; Greg Bacon. Katie has a strong love of singing but is a recent convert to the traditional Irish music form. Kate is a singer, storyteller &amp; poet who combines traditional tales with music in her performances &amp; has a Ph.D. in Celtic Languages &amp; Literature from Harvard University. Mike has a background in drama, is a former radio host, &amp; featured soloist with local singing events. He possesses a voracious knowledge of Irish music &amp; heritage. Greg is a performer, musician, &amp; composer of traditional-sounding Celtic music &amp; a virtuoso on the fife. He is associated with the Ancient Mariners &amp; Stoneybatter Band.</td>

<td>The Strike for Bread and Roses, Lawrence: 1912</td>
<td>&quot;The Strike for Bread and Roses: Lawrence, 1912,&quot; was commissioned by the Bread and Roses Festival Committee in Lawrence, Massachusetts, where this historic labor strike took place. One of the most important labor strikes in the United States, it was unique because it was conceived of and led by women. These female textile workers refused to accept a cut in pay and walked out en masse in January of 1912. For more than two months, seven out of eight mills were completely shut down. Take a trip back in time to see what this strike was really like.</td>

<td>Strategies for Finding the Origins of Your Irish Ancestors</td>
<td>Success in Irish research is dependent on discovering the exact location in Ireland of one’s ancestors. Learn strategies for finding the information in US records. This lecture will explore the myth and reality of Irish records, family sources for discovering Irish localities and answering “What’s an Irish Townland?” (an Irish administrative district).</td>
<td>S11</td>

<td>Irish Civil Registration and Church Records…It’s a New World!</td>
<td>The landscape of Irish research has changed drastically over the past few years with the digitization of the Roman Catholic records by the National Library, followed by the release of images of birth, deaths, and marriages (with restrictions) by IrishGenealogy.ie. This lecture will include a history of Irish Civil Registrations, and Roman Catholic and other Church records. It is truly a new world for Irish researchers!</td>

<td>Mining the Destination Data</td>
<td>Using all the data available to determine the number of touch points needed to successfully identify your emigrant ancestor using an Irish example. Comparative analysis yields clues that may not be identifiable in any other manner</td>
<td>S21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rencher</td>
<td>David</td>
<td>Chasing the Poor &amp; Landless</td>
<td>Defining the landless and alternate record sources is crucial for identifying the poorest of the poor. The records of the Irish poor are voluminous, but scattered throughout the country. This session helps you understand where and how to approach this particular type of problem</td>
<td>F32</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rencher</td>
<td>David</td>
<td>Introduction to Irish Internet Sites</td>
<td>The Internet has created an explosion in Irish genealogy with more relevant materials being added each day. This talk is an introduction to established Internet sites and some of the newest sites that are bedrock sources for conducting research in Ireland.</td>
<td>F12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schnelle</td>

<tr>
<td>Woodcock</td>
<td>Christine</td>
<td>In Search of Scottish Ancestors: Search Your Roots, Discover Your Heritage</td>
<td>Beginner. While many people want to know more about their Scottish heritage, they don’t know where to begin. Fortunately, researching our Scottish ancestors is a fairly easy task. Knowing where to look is usually where we get tied up. This talk will get you started in researching your Scottish ancestry as well as how to make the most of your research by exploring how to reach out to others with similar research, helpful websites, Scottish history societies, and more.</td>
<td>F14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Woodcock</td>
<td>Christine</td>
<td>They Were Highlanders</td>
<td>In this session, you will learn about the importance of the events in Scottish history (and the clues they left behind) that led to large number of Scots leaving their homeland for life in the Americas. You will learn how to bridge the gap between finding them in North American records (birth, marriage, death and census records) and being able to locate them in Scottish records.</td>
<td>S24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Woodcock</td>
<td>Christine</td>
<td>Step AWAY From the Computer</td>
<td>Your Scottish ancestors are waiting for you to find them. But in order to do that, you may need to step away from your computer. Many records are available in Scottish repositories, but few are digitized or available online. This talk will assist you in understanding the types of records that exist at national and university archives and libraries, including estate papers, court, club, society and asylum records, and more.</td>

Sightseeing Bus Tour – Thursday August 9 - $45 – limited space available

Join us for a unique tour of historic sites. The bus will pick us up at the Marriott at 10am. We'll start by visiting the Lowell National Historic Park. https://www.nps.gov/lowe/index.htm “The Irish were not the only Celts to help build the city of Lowell.”

“Before Lowell was Lowell, there were farmers and tradesmen from Ulster (Scots-Irish) in Chelmsford and Dracut.” See the irishlowell.blogspot.com http://irishlowell.blogspot.com February 5, 2017 entry for more information on The Scots in the Mill City.

From the Visitor Center, we’ll take the trolley to the Boott Cotton Mill (admission included) and the Immigrant Girl Experience. We’ll meet back up at the Center for lunch (box lunch included) and a lecture. From there we’ll take the bus for a drive through some scenic New England towns, stopping for ice cream (cost not included) along the way. Possible stops include Concord North Bridge and Walden Pond. Return to the hotel by 4pm.

Banquet – Friday Night August 10 - $60

Choice of Apricot Stuffed Chicken with apricot, shallot and orange glaze OR Pan Seared Atlantic Salmon with Maple Syrup Glaze

All dinners served with garden salad, fresh baked rolls with butter, locally grown seasonal vegetable and one accompaniment, dessert and coffee/tea.

Friday Night – Katie & Friends – Songs from Both Sides of the Atlantic – included in banquet

After dinner, enjoy a sampling of 250+ years of Celtic music from three continents. In music and song, four Boston performers identify traditional themes, their modern descendants, and elements of cross-cultural influences.

Pub Quiz – Saturday Night August 11 - $25

Come one, Come all! Join us for a fun night of Celtic Trivia. Bring your knowledge of the Celtic nations and compete for some great prizes. Teams of 4 to 6 people will gather at the hotel at 6:30pm. There will be light refreshments & a cash bar. Cost for this fun night is $25. Hope to see you there.
